MORE DECISIONS

Three Cases Decided By Highest Court.

Habeas Corpus Appeal - Defense
to an Action for Malicious Prosecution - A Minister's Powers.

In the matter of Nuno Fernandez, who was convicted in the District Court of South Hilo, Hawaii, of being a disorderly person and sentenced to three months' imprisonment and to pay costs, who appealed to the Circuit Court and pending the appeal was released on bail until the surety on his bail bond surrendered him into the custody of the sheriff. He then petitioned the Circuit Judge for a writ of habeas corpus. The Circuit Judge, after a hearing, remanded the petitioner to custody. The petitioner then appealed to the Supreme Court. In its decision the court says that section 370, Penal Laws, provides that any person who does any one of a number of enumerated acts shall be punished, etc. The petitioner was charged with the commission of two of such acts and found guilty as charged. The mittimus recited that he had been convicted of the offense of violating section 370, etc. Held, the mittimus was not void on its face and the record showing a proper judgment by a court having jurisdiction, the defendant was not entitled to a discharge on habeas corpus. In the case of Henry E. Cooper, Minister of Public Instruction, vs. Naeole Hao, the court holds that the department, not the Minister, of Public Instruction, is the proper party plaintiff in an action of ejectment to recover school land.

In the case of Antone Silva vs. Patrick Cockett, on exceptions from the Circuit Court of the Second Circuit, the court decides that where a party before swearing out a warrant for a criminal offense presents all the essential facts and obtains thereupon advice of responsible counsel that he has reasonable grounds to believe that such offense has been committed, it is a defense to an action for malicious prosecution for such arrest.

THE CAMERA CLUB.

Will Listen to an Address by a New York Photographer.

The Camera Club will meet in the Y. M. C. A. parlors tomorrow evening. C. C. Langill of New York has accepted Secretary Coleman's invitation to be present and will address the meeting. Mr. Langill, who is here with Professor Bickmore, is one of the best known of New York photographers and his talk should prove both interesting and beneficial. The members have also planned an outing for the 12th. It is possible that a contest will be arranged for the best set of pictures taken during the tramp.

There is not an ounce of headache in a barrel of it, Jesse Moore "AA" Whiskey. Try it and see for yourself.
